THE TRADE DISPUTES BILL

X-JN 1129
.L32Z9

By a majority of 27 votes (277 to 250) the House of Commons has given its second reading to the Government's Bill to amend the Trade Disputes and Trade Unions Act, 1927.

The alterations made in Trade Union law by the Bill were justified by the Attorney-General (Sir William Jowitt) on the four following grounds:

WHAT THE BILL DOES

(1) Any revolutionary or political strike or lock-out is illegal ; but the right to declare a strike or lock-out, even though sympathetic, in furtherance of a genuine trade dispute must not be placed in jeopardy.

(2) No man should be held guilty of the crime of intimidation merely for doing or stating that he intends to do that which it is lawful for him to do.

(3) Where an association of persons has lawfully decided by a majority to set up a political fund, any member of that association should be bound by the majority decision unless he gives notice of his dissent.

(4) The Treasury should have an unfettered discretion in regulating the conditions under which and the extent to which any grade of Civil Servants should take part in political affairs.

This is the answer of the Government and the organised Labour Movement to the action of the Baldwin Government in passing the vindictive, repressive and penal Act of 1927. That Act violated the reasonable and just principles embodied in these four propositions.

THE WORLD MUDDLE

by

W. N. EWER and FRANCIS WILLIAMS

¶ At last the whole world is realising that something must be done to rescue it from the chaos towards which it is rapidly heading.

At the Lausanne Conference which may possibly be followed by a further Conference in London, the statesmen are confronted with the task of trying to find remedies for the economic crisis.

In this pamphlet, W. N. Ewer and Francis Williams analyse in simple language the principal causes of the present muddle, such as reparations, non-political loans, tariffs and the fall in prices, and suggest a minimum programme for Lausanne and London.

1935—THE YEAR OF VICTORY FOR PEACE AND SECURITY

Dear Neighbour,

You have a pretty good idea of what we Socialists stand for—you know that our aim is to make our country a prosperous land, and our nation a healthy, happy and contented people, all enjoying as a right a fair share in the nation's work, and in the nation's wealth. That is the real meaning of the security you want for yourself and your family.

You know also that we have practical plans that will provide the foundations of Peace and Economic Security.

Now, at the beginning of 1935, the time has come for you to make up your mind as to the part you are going to play. In the autumn of this year, or, at the latest, in the spring of 1936, you and I and all the other electors will be called upon to decide a vital issue—whether we are to continue living under the dark shadow of poverty, insecurity and war, which are inseparable from the private profit-seeking system of Capitalism, or whether, as a nation, we are to move rapidly forward with the creation of a British Socialist Commonwealth.

You want to end war. You hate poverty and unemployment. You regard as wrong and unjust the enrichment of private individuals through the underpayment and exploitation of the worker. You want to escape from a system which subjects you and your family and millions of others like you to insecurity most of your days. Then you will make sure that your vote and support are given to Socialism and Peace.

But that is not enough.

If we are to win power at the next election to put an end to the terrible conditions in which multitudes of our fellow-citizens live to day, we must start work now, and start in earnest.

We must not only be inspired with a courageous faith ourselves, but we must put our backs into the job of convincing others that only through Socialism shall we achieve peace and security.

This is the time for New Year resolutions. Will you make it one of your New Year resolutions to do everything in your power during the coming months to ensure the victory for Socialism that will give Peace and Prosperity, Justice, Equality and Freedom to all our people?

With best wishes for 1935.

Yours sincerely,

JIM BLUNT.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CRIMINAL NEGLECT

THE "National" Government has been in uninterrupted and undisputed control of our political affairs since 1931. It must accept full responsibility for the appalling state of our Defences.

In 1934 Mr. Baldwin gave a solemn pledge that the country's Air Force would be made equal in power to that of "any country within striking distance of these shores."

In Parliament, two years later, Mr. Baldwin confessed with "appalling frankness" that from 1933 he and his colleagues were all very worried about what was happening in Europe, but that they had not gone to the country and said that Germany was re-arming and that we must re-arm, because it would have meant the loss of the general election.

In spite of the hundreds of millions spent on re-armament, the Government's pledge has not been carried out. Great Britain's Air Force has been far outstripped in every respect by that of Germany.

Equipment and supplies for the Fighting Services are deplorably insufficient.

The shortage of anti-aircraft guns is a public scandal, and the confusion and inadequacy of Air Raid Precautions are notorious.

The Administrative Chief of the A.R.P. Department of the Home Office candidly admitted, in a speech delivered in London on October 26 :—

"We had no illusions about the state of unpreparedness of the country to receive air attack.

"We are not prepared ; we have hardly begun to prepare."

Despite definite pledges given by the Government that profiteering would be stopped, profiteering is still rampant.

The Labour Party is not responsible for the lack of a single recruit, a single aeroplane, a single gun, a single shell, a single air-trench or shelter—the lack of a single item in any category of our national defences.

LABOUR'S CLAIM TO POWER

A SUPREME NATIONAL EFFORT FOR PEACE

IN THIS Manifesto the National Executive of the Labour Party calls on the people of Britain to support and demand a supreme national effort for Peace. This can be done only under a Labour Government which will give unswerving support to the rule of law throughout the world

BRITAIN'S SHAME AND DANGER

TWENTY years after the Great War, in which a million British lives were lost, the "National" Government has brought us once more to the brink of war and surrendered almost everything which our countrymen paid a terrible price to preserve.

In the recent crisis "Some people suggest," said the Attorney-General at Oxford, on October 13, "that the Prime Minister followed a policy of peace at any price, but there can be no greater contradiction of the actual facts. He made it perfectly plain that, if terms were to be dictated which Czechoslovakia rejected, we were ready to put the matter to the arbitration of war."

War, therefore, was averted, not by Mr. Chamberlain, but by Dr. Benes, who accepted, under pressure of brutal threats, the cruel sacrifices demanded by Herr Hitler.

The crisis is not over. In October, 1938, we are back in 1914. The League of Nations has been reduced to impotence; the system of mutual and collective security among the peaceful nations has been shattered; Russia has been coldshouldered by the Western Powers; Europe, from the North Sea to the Mediterranean, is now dominated by Germany; freedom of communication through the Mediterranean has been endangered; even in the Far East unchecked aggression is extending the power of military dictatorship.

The whole standing of our country in the world has been gravely damaged. British ships are bombed and British seamen killed and mutilated with impunity; British interests in Europe, the Mediterranean and the Far East, are being sacrificed without heed to the consequences; British diplomacy has suffered a series of shattering defeats in Manchuria, Abyssinia, Spain, China, Austria, Czechoslovakia; Great Britain has abandoned her historic position as the champion of freedom and of the rights of small nations, and thereby has thrown away the respect and the support of many nations and peoples.

If Spain were now to be sacrificed, with the connivance of Mr. Chamberlain, to the predatory aggression of Hitler and Mussolini, not only would democracy once more have been betrayed, but France would be encircled and the security of the British Commonwealth exposed to new and grim perils.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

Since the Great War, seventeen years out of twenty have been years of Conservative or predominantly Conservative Governments with large majorities. Only three were years of Labour Government, and those Labour administrations, though in a minority in the House of Commons, were the only ones which seriously attempted to remove the causes of war and to strengthen the League of Nations.

In every declaration which it has made on foreign affairs the Labour Party has consistently pursued the aim of building and maintaining a peaceful and prosperous world. It has constantly urged that justice and conciliation should be the basis of British policy.

Time after time events have proved it right, but its advice has not been heeded.

Since 1931, the "National" Government has commanded an overwhelming majority in Parliament, and therefore must bear full responsibility for the present dangerous situation.

In 1932, the "National" Government, by its obstruction of all constructive proposals made by many nations, had the principal responsibility for wrecking the World Disarmament Conference.

As a result of this short-sighted folly, the international situation increasingly deteriorated and in 1935 the Labour Party declared that it would unhesitatingly provide whatever arms were necessary in order to defend our country, and to fulfil our obligations as a member of the League of Nations and of the British Commonwealth.

In October, 1936, it warned the Government that "the armed strength of the Powers loyal to the League of Nations must be conditioned by the armed strength of the potential aggressors."

That warning was repeated a year later; and for the last two years the Labour Party has, in public debate and by private representations to Ministers, repeatedly expressed its anxiety as to the efficiency of our rearmament, and in particular of our air defences.

NEGLECT OF OUR DEFENCES

The defences of our country have been criminally neglected. The recent crisis found us in a state of appalling unpreparedness.

The shortage of anti-aircraft guns is a public scandal. The confusion and inadequacy of A.R.P. arrangements is notorious. Except in London there was no balloon barrage; and even in London it has been shown to be grossly defective.

Our Air Force, in spite of a pledge by Mr. Baldwin in 1934, that it should be equal in power to that of any country within striking distance of these shores, has been far outstripped in every respect by that of Germany.

Equipment and supplies for the fighting services are deplorably insufficient and, in spite of definite pledges given by the Government, profiteering has been rampant.

Food supply, a vital element in national defence, has not been made secure either by increased home production, or by substantial food storage.

Enormous sums have been voted by Parliament for National defence. The nation has not had value for its money.

WASTE OF OUR RESOURCES

The financial and industrial strength of our country is being allowed to decline, because of the same indecision and ineptitude which the Government has displayed in foreign affairs. Nearly 2,000,000 wage earners are unemployed, and great numbers of our people are living in poverty and without adequate food.

The nation cannot at this critical hour afford the shameful and preventable waste of the productive powers of so many

WAR AND THE MEDICAL SERVICES

What is happening to the people's health

This pamphlet is the work of the Joint Medical Socialist Committee. The Committee, consisting of members of the Socialist Medical Association, Left Book Club Medical Group and University Labour Federation, was formed at the outbreak of war to co-ordinate the activity of various medical socialist bodies and to study the new conditions resulting from the war. Detailed statistics relative to the present situation are not available. The reports on which our conclusions are based were derived from individual letters and statements. Those quoted are believed to be representative. Enquiries and applications for further copies of this pamphlet should be addressed to the Secretary, JOINT MEDICAL SOCIALIST COMMITTEE, UNIVERSITY LABOUR CLUB, 13 PERCY STREET, W.1.

DEAR COLLEAGUE,

"LET US FACE THE FUTURE"

The enclosed is a copy of a new Labour Party pamphlet "Let Us Face the Future." This document contains Labour's Declaration of Policy to the Nation. It will be considered by the Party Conference at Whitsun.

Coming now, when we are within a short distance of the first post-war Election, Labour's plan to provide a good and secure living for the people is of the highest public and Party importance. There is no greater pre-election need than to get this statement of Labour's case into the hands of every elector. To this end every unit of Party organisation is urged to order copies of the new pamphlet without delay, and to see that they reach all Party members and the general body of electors in every constituency.

During recent months there has been a persistent and growing demand for a simple statement in pamphlet form of what a Labour Government in power would do. The demand has come not only from Party members and interested people at home, but from members of the Forces in every theatre of operations. This need has now been met and Party members should make a special point of sending copies to their relatives serving abroad. Constituency and other Party organisations should endeavour to carry through a house-to-house sale or distribution of the pamphlet. In particular it will be found of the greatest value in connection with canvassing and recruitment activities.

Order Form with quantity prices is attached. Send in your orders now. Much of the important work referred to above can be done before the Party Conference. It should be taken in hand without delay.

Yours sincerely,

MORGAN PHILLIPS,

Secretary.

DEAR COLLEAGUE,

NEW PUBLICATIONS

" The Difference "

We have just published a new pamphlet entitled " The Difference." It tells the story of a Sydenham family, a what happened to the present head of the family, Mr. Oscar Dickson, when he left the Army in 1919, and to his s Bob, in 1945, after he left the Army. In the year that has elapsed since Bob Dickson was demobilised the social fab of Britain has undergone much progressive change, with the world of competition giving place to a world of co-operati in an orderly fashion. The publication tells how this is being brought about. The selling price of this pamphlet is 4 and prices post free are : 1 copy 5d. ; 12 copies, 3s. 6d. ; 100 copies, £1 7s. 6d. The publication carries illustratio on every page.

" Village Life and the Labour Party "

This is a well-illustrated pamphlet dealing with the countryside which has been written by Miss Cicely McCa It deals with rural housing, a better planned countryside, better education, more security for farmers and far workers, better health services and equality of opportunity.

" U.N.—The Atom—The Veto "

At the Second Assembly of the United Nations, Mr. Noel-Baker, M.P., Leader of the British Delegation, review the activities of the United Nations during its first year. He dealt with the work of the different organs of the organis tion, especially that of the Security Council and the Atomic Energy Commission. We have reprinted this speech t the information of individuals in the Party and outside who wish to be informed of the great part that the Unit Nations can play in world peace.

" The Government's Plans for 1946-47 "

The King's Speech sets out the Labour Government's programme for the coming session. We have publish this in a pamphlet, together with the Prime Minister's speech on the Address. Mr. Attlee, in his speech, deals brief with most of the issues which will come before Parliament during this session. He deals in great detail with tl Conscription issue. He says that no Government would like to put proposals for conscription forward unless th were convinced it was their duty to do so. He gives the reasons why the Labour Government has had to bring the forward.

The post free prices of these three pamphlets are : 1 copy, 3d. ; 12 copies, 1s. 6d. ; 100 copies, 10s. Please sen orders on the attached order form.

Yours sincerely,

MORGAN PHILLIPS,

DEAR COLLEAGUE,

THE LASKI FUND

I write to express my cordial thanks to all the Constituency Parties, Local Labour Parties, Ward Parties, Women's Sections and the Women's Advisory Councils, and individual Party members who have already subscribed so generously to the Laski Fund and to assure them that the National Executive Committee is very appreciative of the assistance they have rendered. I would have liked to have replied personally to the many letters of appreciation of Harold Laski's services to the Labour Movement which accompanied the donations, but pressure of work made this impossible.

I now desire to ask organisations which have not yet considered the sending of donations to the Fund and those who have collections in being to regard the forwarding of their contributions as a matter of urgency. The costs in the case are likely to be very high, £16,000 or £17,000 at least, and the time will soon come when they will have to be met. The Movement has responded so well already in many parts of Britain that I now feel no diffidence in reminding those organisations that have not yet responded that the Fund is still open and that they can express their goodwill to Harold Laski and their gratitude for his selfless devotion to the Movement by contributing to his costs Fund as generously as possible.

With all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,

DEAR COLLEAGUE,

APPROACH TO FOREIGN POLICY

This pamphlet does not deal directly with current issues. It tries to disentangle some of the factors which affect the making of foreign policy. In the Preface to the pamphlet it is stated that : " The following pages aim at clarifying some of the general issues, not providing a final answer to problems which still excite disagreement even among the professional experts."

The first section of the pamphlet deals with " The Conditions which Limit Foreign Policy," such as public opinion and the limits of power and information ; the second with " The Aims of Foreign Policy "—security, independence, prosperity and peace. The third with " Foreign Affairs and Party Politics "—" continuity " and a Socialist foreign policy.

This is a Labour Discussion series pamphlet (number 11). There are questions for discussion and a list of books to read. The price post free is : 1 copy, 3d., 12, 1s. 6d. ; 100, 10s. Please send orders on the attached order form.

February, 1947.

To: Affiliated Trade Unions, Constituency and Local Labour Parties:

DEAR SECRETARY,

At the beginning of the year, the Prime Minister, at our request, recorded a speech for Gramophone Records. The speech deals with what the Prime Minister calls " The great issues, the interesting human things which affect directly the happiness of everybody." He speaks of housing, food rationing, insurance, National Health Service, nationalisation and the United Nations. The record takes about eight minutes and would be very useful for indoor meetings or for outdoor meetings in conjunction with a loud speaker. I understand from the makers of the record that the process used makes for durable copies.

We are arranging to get supplies of records from the Recording Company, but before placing an order for any quantity, we should like to have some indication as to the number of records the Movement will be likely to purchase. The cost of each record, including postage and tax, will be from 10s. to 10s. 6d., according to the number of records we order.

I should be grateful if you would indicate on the order form attached below whether or not you wish to purchase one or more records. PLEASE DO NOT SEND ANY MONEY AT THIS STAGE; later on a pro forma invoice will be sent to any organisation ordering records.

Yours sincerely,

DEAR COLLEAGUE,

A WORLD OF PEACE AND PLENTY

A great constructive proposal—a World Plan for Mutual Aid—was outlined in 'Labour and the New Society' and some of the outstanding speeches at the 1950 Annual Conference dealt with it.

In a Discussion pamphlet 'A World of Peace and Plenty,' Rita Hinden has set out in some detail the various aspects of the Plan, as the following Contents list shows: A Moral Problem; The Unity of Economic Interests; Poverty and War; Colonial Development; Mr. Truman's 'Point Four'; The United Nations; The Colombo Plan; The Labour Party Proposals; Financing the Plan; Administering the Plan; The Co-operation of the People. At the end of the pamphlet, points for discussion are set out.

The prices of the pamphlet, post free, are 1 copy, 4d.; 12 copies, 2s. 6d.; 50 copies, 9s. 0d.; 100 copies, 17s. 6d. Please order on order form attached.

NEW ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE

We have now in hand the preparation of a 16-page illustrated magazine on the lines of the popular 'You and Tomorrow' and 'Good to be Alive,' which we hope to publish at the end of May. The magazine will deal with the march of progress under a Labour Government, the Cost of Living, Housing, Peace, and the Festival of Britain.

Despite the large increase in the printing costs due primarily to the cost of paper, we shall be letting Parties have supplies at the same rate as earlier illustrated magazines, i.e.

Quantity	Cost	Revenue	Profit
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
1,000	4 0 0	8 6 8	4 6 8
500	2 5 0	4 3 4	1 18 4
100	10 0	16 8	6 8
12	1 6	2 0	6

(Carriage: paid or post free)

You will see from this table that if sales are organised over a wide area a substantial profit can be made for Party funds.

Reports from Constituencies show that the New Year Campaign was very successful despite bad weather conditions. The month of June with its long evenings is an ideal time for canvassing and distributing and selling literature. Parties should not leave the distribution of attractive literature until a General Election is upon us. The permitted Election Expenses coupled with the high cost of printed material will not allow for the distribution of such publications as the illustrated magazine. I hope, therefore, that you will take supplies of this new publication. If Parties will place an advance order, it will help us in making our printing arrangements. The title of the magazine has not yet been fixed but you can send your advance order on the attached form under the title 'Illustrated Magazine May 1951.'

TOWN AND COUNTRY POST

As the National Executive Committee are anxious that nothing should distract Parties from achieving a mass distribution of the illustrated magazine, it has been decided to postpone the publication of the next issue of the broadsheet Town and Country Post, which since September we have published at two-monthly intervals. We shall resume publication of this broadsheet in July, as it has secured the firm good-will of the Constituency and Local organisations.

HIT HITLER!

THE British Trade Union and Labour Movement recently celebrated a great Centenary—that of the Tolpuddle Martyrs—who suffered transportation overseas to secure the freedom of the British Workers to organise in Trade Unions.

That freedom has grown throughout the world, but in Germany Hitler and his Nazi gangs of terrorists have broken up the Workers' Trade Unions, have arrested many of their leaders, thrown them into their infamous Brown Houses and Concentration Camps, and confiscated the Union funds. The efforts of years have been wrecked and the status of the German workers has been practically reduced to that of slave labour.

The German Socialist Party has also been effaced from the active political life of Germany, its leaders and active workers are in prison or in exile; its rank and file have been terrorised and their efforts driven underground.

To meet this challenge, the International Trade Union and Socialist Movements have called for an International Boycott of all German Goods and Services.

The National Council of Labour calls upon workers everywhere to make the Boycott effective.

Remember German Goods are "scab" goods made by underpaid workers who are denied the elementary right to organise to improve their working conditions.

The Economic Boycott is the Workers' Weapon. Workers everywhere should use it against Germany.

The following articles when marked "foreign" are usually imported from Germany:—

Toy Rubber Balls

Labour's Plan for Peace and Prosperity

We all want a steady weekly income. We want a home with nice things in it. We want good clothes. We want enough nourishing food for good health. Proper medical and dental care. For our children, a good education and an opportunity in life equal to that of anybody else's children. We want security in sickness, infirmity and old age. Freedom from worry and a struggle to make ends meet. We want an annual holiday with pay, and enough leisure really to enjoy living. As the nation's workers we are entitled to the income that will make these things possible.

The evils of unemployment, insecurity, poverty, suffering and distress ought not to exist. Plenty for all is no impossible dream.

But, if it is to be made a reality, we have to plan for plenty. Labour has the plan.

The inspiration of Labour's plan is service for all, instead of private profit for the favoured few—co-operation instead of competition both in national and international life.

Labour plans for a World Commonwealth of Nations living in peace and enjoying security. It seeks to end war, to remove the root causes of international disputes, to develop co-operation between the nations, and to establish the reign of justice and freedom in the House of Humanity.

Labour plans that the economic resources of the nation shall be owned and controlled by the nation for the benefit of the nation.

The Land must be freed from the grip of private landlordism and made a national possession. Upon this secure foundation a prosperous and efficient agriculture will be developed in the interests both of those engaged in the industry and of the general consuming public.

National credit will be made a national asset in the hands of the nation, and used for the benefit of the nation as a whole through a publicly owned and controlled banking system.

The basic industries and key services which are essential sources of national economic life and strength will be transformed from private enterprise for producing private profits into a commonwealth of industry that will provide prosperity for the people.

Labour plans that the standards of life and employment necessary to a healthy, independent and self-respecting existence shall be made the right of every citizen.

Labour plans that the individual citizen shall be protected from becoming the sport of economic chance and the slave of environment. The forms of social provision—education, public health, housing, pensions, and maintenance during unemployment—which are an essential basis of security—will be rapidly and widely extended. Labour plans that taxation shall be readjusted on the principle of ability to pay and that surpluses created by social effort shall be applied for the general good of the nation.

This is Labour's Plan for National Prosperity
It is the Plan of Socialism
Socialism means Security and Happiness for the People
